My passion for healthcare and the question of how it can be improved on a global scale motivated me to understand this topic on a deeper level and actively work on it. When I saw that there was a master's program in Bavaria, I knew it was the right choice for me. Studying Global Public Health at DIT has been an incredible experience, allowing me to learn not only from experts but also from classmates from different parts of the world, which has helped me to see health challenges from multiple perspectives.
